Florida can well afford to take off its hat to Gainesville—263 to 3.—St. Augustine Record.

The Sanford jury at Rome, Ga., will have to call in a committee of arbitration to settle the case.

Let in the sunlight once in a while, even if it does fade the carpet. Health is just as good as a carpet.

The bachelors of Wisconsin are willing to pay $10 each, rather than take the chances of getting married.

If you would see a haven of rest and security from the yellow fever, go to Atlanta, 1,200 feet above the sea.

A Houston, Tex., autoist ran his machine into a milk wagon and was drowned before he could be rescued.

The people who burned their cotton would have shown just as good sense to have sold the cotton and burned the money.

Cut the weeds, boil the water and look carefully at the proboscis of every mosquito that you find hanging around loose in your back yard.

The Peace Commission seems to be waiting to see what will be the report from the next battles. They can rest assured it will be mixed.

If some of the buildings in the large cities would only be thoroughly investigated there would be fewer horrors like that in Albany, N. Y., to investigate.

It seems as though it was of no use for the Japs to let up or continue mauling the time out of Russia. They seem to enjoy being whipped or being sent to Siberia. Humane treatment is a stranger to them.

The Mid-Winter Fair at Tampa will have to call their midway "Avenue de la Guerre" if they want to be up to date. A member of one of the secret orders suggests that "The Jericho Road" would be a good name.

A Baptist minister in Kansas has made a failure in the pulpit that he has gone on the stage. He will play John the Baptist, in "The Holy City." Fortunately for the audience John got his head cut off early in the play.

The State Normal School being held in this city is proving of much interest. The attendance has been large during the entire session, and the teachers in attendance have been well pleased with the instructors in charge of the work.

The death of Archbishop Chapelle at New Orleans, of yellow fever, early Thursday morning, will cause general sorrow. He was a man well known in Washington, where he held a pastorate, and was in Porto Rico and Cuba during the prevalence of yellow fever, having contracted the disease.

"THE GAINESVILLE SPIRIT."

All through the campaign for the location of the State University, the people of Gainesville showed themselves in real earnest in their efforts to win the school. Not a stone was left unturned that was likely to help the cause, and the result was the selection of Gainesville as the site for the University of Florida. This outcome made necessary the fulfilling of certain obligations. The electors of Gainesville met one of the important obligations at the polls Tuesday of this week, when, by a vote of 263 to 3, a bond election was carried by which $50,000 will be secured for the improvement of the educational facilities of the city.

A practically unanimous vote indicates the spirit of unity that actuates the citizenship of the new University city on behalf of the noble cause of education. The result of Tuesday's vote shows that the University of Florida will receive loyal support from the people of Alachua county.

Such an assurance must cause a great deal of satisfaction to President Sledd and the faculty of which he is the official head.

The "Gainesville spirit," if allowed to find voice in other portions of the State, would make of Florida the greatest of Southern States.—St. Augustine Record.

Yes, and during all the time the people of Gainesville never fired one of those stones at anyone that opposed them. Whatever was gained was done by honest work, and the same honesty of purpose will be shown at all times by our people, and the good opinion of all will be maintained, if devotion to cause counts for anything.

THE TERM "FOCI."

There has been so much misapprehension over the meaning of the words "foci" and "sub-foci" that the following explanation will be of interest to many readers of The Sun:

"The word 'foci,' of which 'foci' is the plural form, in its original sense meant 'fireplace,' and as the fireplace or fireside was always the place of the gathering together of the family, its secondary meaning became 'a center.' It is a naturalized, not a derivative word, as it was adopted from the Latin into the English in unchanged form. Its first use in English was by Kepler in 1604, and was for a long time a technical word used in the branch of physics known as optics, and meant either the point of convergence or divergence of rays of light.

"It is now used figuratively in any connection, simply denoting a converging point of interest or attraction from which rays (figuratively) may diverge.

"As a medical term its meaning is a center of infection, and sub-foci means other centers towards which the disease has converged and from which the disease may spread.

"As, for instance, the first case of yellow fever in New Orleans is regarded by the physicians as the original focus, each new case traceable to that case is a sub-focus, but each new case not traceable to that case is a new or original focus; thus they speak of foci and sub-foci. The aim of the board of health is to so insulate every focus that from it can be disseminated no sub-foci. The way to prevent the original foci is yet to be discovered.

"When Paudora's box was opened each noxious, flying thing that emanated was a 'focus.'"

Since the war began Russia has drawn down her treasury balance $51,000,000 rubles, used up a special war fund of 140,000,000 and borrowed 1,710,000,000 rubles, showing that the war has been costing her about 5,000,000 rubles—$2,500,000—daily. At the beginning of the war she explained that her ownership of the Siberian railroad and a fleet of transports would enable her to carry on war with very little more than peace expenditure.

BEGINNING TO BELIEVE.

The Gainesville Sun has been pounding away so long and so persistently upon the many advantages of Gainesville that we are beginning to believe that Gainesville is one of the best towns in the State.—Pensacola Journal.

We are gratified to know that we have made an impression on The Journal, which we have always considered to be possessed of good judgment. But now that The Journal is "beginning to believe," we hope in a short time to strengthen that belief. It would not be hard to make the fact apparent to a man of good judgment, if he would only come here and see for himself.

There has been a steady growth in Gainesville for over two years that has almost bordered on to a boom, and still the good work goes merrily on. Every man who wants work can find it here, and we feel sure that it is "one of the best towns in the State."

Some of those fellows who have been angling around to get some one to mention their name for governor, and then respectfully decline to consider the matter for various reasons, will be going around behind the cylinder and kicking themselves for having too much modesty when they discover that the people were so quick to take them at their word.

The national organization has refused assistance to the Jacksonville Carpenters' Union in their present strike, claiming it was not regular. It is regular enough to create trouble among the contractors and builders. Possibly they struck before the iron was hot.

A woman in Royston, Ga., mistook her husband for a burglar and shot him dead. She must have mistreated it was her husband, or she would have been so excited had she known it was a real burglar, some one else would have received the deadly bullet.

Tired Nervous

When you feel languid, tired, nervous and irritable, your vitality is low—your supply of nerve energy exhausted, and your system running down for lack of power.

The organs of the body are working poorly, or not at all, and you are not getting the nourishment needed. This soon impoverishes the blood and instead of throwing off the impurities, distributes it all through the body. This brings disease and misery.

Feed the nerves with Dr. Miles' Nervine, a nerve food, a nerve medicine, that nourishes and strengthens the nerves, and see how quickly you will get strong and vigorous.

"My wife suffered with nervousness previous to a recent attack of typhoid fever, but after her recovery from the fever, she was much worse, and could hardly control herself being exceedingly nervous when the least excited. She was very restless at night, and never had a good night's rest. She also suffered much from nervous headache. Dr. Miles' Nervine was recommended by a friend. After the first three doses she had a good night's rest, and at the end of the first week's treatment she was wonderfully improved. Continued use of Nervine has completed her entire cure."
